AT THE NAVY YARD.

The arrival of the torpedo boat Bagley is daily expected at the yard.

The shears have been made ready to lift the boilers from the Mercedes.

Arthur Locke has been transferred from Bath to this yard for duty as a draughtsman.

Ten painters and two laborers were required in the construction and repair department on Tuesday.

A board of officers will soon visit this yard to report on the advisability of making this station one of the torpedo boat storage stations.

Lieut. Commander W. F. Sewell, U. S. N., Civil Engineer L. E. Gregory, U. S. N., and Asst. Naval Constructor

Wm. G. Dabose, U. S. N., have been appointed to examine candidates for appointment as chief electrician in the department of yards and docks.

WHIST PARTY.

The whist party at the rooms of the Warner club on Tuesday evening was well attended and some high scores were recorded. The prize winners were as follows: First, a turkey, J. Parker, with sixty-two points; second, leg of lamb, E. J. Field, fifty-four points; third, smoked shoulder, A. J. Rutledge, fifty-one points; fourth, canned goods, Major McNeil, fifty points; booby, bundle of rhubarb, B. B. Marks, twenty-two points. Another party will be held next Tuesday evening.

HE BROKE DOWN.

Admiral Schley Much Affected At A Dinner.

On Board The Liner Kaiser Wilhelm Der Grosse.

Referred To It As His Last Trip At Sea, And Then Wept.

New York, May 21.—It is said that Admiral Schley broke down while making a speech at a dinner by Capt. Englehart of the steamship Kaiser Wilhelm der Grosse of the North German Lloyd line on Monday night. The admiral said that it had been an anxious trip for him, owing to the alarming illness of his son. Then he said in faltering tones that it was his last trip at sea, in view of his approaching retirement. The veteran broke down and wept. Many present, Germans and Americans, shared in the admiral's feelings.

MRS. MCKINLEY FAST RECOVERING.

SAN FRANCISCO, MAY 21.—The convalescence of Mrs. McKinley is very rapid and she is fast regaining her normal health. She was able to sit up today and read the papers. If her marked improvement continues, it is very probable that the presidential party will start for Washington next Saturday. If there are no untoward developments in Mrs. McKinley's condition, it is believed that she will be strong enough by that time to continue the trip.

GEN. FITZ-JOHN PORTER DEAD.

NEW YORK, May 21.—Maj. Gen. Fitz-John Porter, colonel, U. S. A., retired, who has been ill for several weeks at his home in Morristown, N. J., died this morning. He has been suffering from chronic diabetes, and his death had been expected for several days. He was nearly seventy-nine years old, and the attending physician told his son and daughter-in-law that his recovery was impossible.

A RIGHT FINE JOB.

NEW YORK, May 21.—The Commercial Advertiser says there is good authority for saying that S. R. Halloway has been offered a salary of $100,000 as president of the American Locomotive company, and that $500,000 worth of the stock of the company has been given him as a bonus.

WEATHER INDICATIONS.

WASHINGTON, May 21.—Forecast for New England: Fair Wednesday; Thursday increasing cloudiness, probably rain and cooler; fresh east to south winds.

There are yet a number of good seats for the Bostonians at Music hall tonight.

KNIGHTS OF MALTA.

The stated convocation of Olivet commandery, Knights of Malta, was held on Tuesday evening. The convocation was a very interesting one and much business was transacted. About twenty local sir knights will visit Valeta commandery of Dover next Tuesday evening.

PICKUPS AT RANDOM.

Colonel Gregg's lawns that flank the government building are in fine condition. The mowing that he gave them on Tuesday, coming so soon after the rain, imparted to the turf a silken appearance that attracts the eye. Now if the colonel will just bring out that urn, garnish it with flowers and put it in its accustomed spot, we shall know that spring is surely with us. He might, too, see that the water is turned on in the drinking fountain in front of the building. I don't know as he has anything to do with this, but he might remind those who do that it is high time that the faucets there were running.

There is more trouble in store for those of us who scrape up filting for the Portsmouth newspapers. We shall have to tackle golf this summer, and it will be no joke getting the hang of that very peculiar game. Who is there among our number that can go out to the links of the Country club, watch the antics of a number of players all an afternoon and understand what's going on? But we shall be called on to face the music, and we might as well commence now to get conversant with "hazards," "tees," "putts," "four-somes," "bogey-scores," and all the rest of the golf lingo.

The telephone linemen in this city stuck to their jobs and paid no attention to the strike. Said one of them to me: "We're getting treated too well and drawing too much steady pay to go and make fools of ourselves by following the lead of a few fellows who have become dissatisfied with their lot. If they want to strike, all right; but we don't strike until we have a grievance."

It looks as if the Bostonians would face a very cultured audience at Music hall this Wednesday evening, when the curtain slides up on The Serenade, which is the lyric treat selected for the engagement. A party of about a score of officers from the navy yard, with their families, will occupy good seats; while forty or fifty of the best people of York are coming over, and Dover will send down a crowd of its elite. Of course, the society of Portsmouth proper will be represented en masse.

One friend of mine is certainly persistent in his farming. He is cultivating a piece of land adjoining his residence and he is at it bright and early every morning. His profession keeps him out until all hours of the night, and on a recent morning I had him as a visitor at half-past one o'clock. He didn't slip up on his gardening, though; for while he didn't get into bed until after two, at a few minutes after four he was out, a lively example of the man behind the hoe. That's what I call courage. Such devotion to work ought to result in a splendid crop of peas, potatoes and the other vegetables which he is trying to bring up.

Rev. and Mrs. Otis Cole, formerly of this city, are cosily situated in their

"Still Waters Run Deep."

In your body lies the vital fluid, the blood. It makes no noise, but it gives you life. If it is strong, pure, full in volume and vigorous, you reap the benefit. If not, the still waters of life, tainted and poisoned, are well-springs of disease. Hood's Sarsaparilla purifies the water of life at its source. It makes the blood healthful and keeps it so, as nothing else can.

Family Medicine.—"We value Hood's Sarsaparilla very highly. When we feel the need of a medicine we take it and we find it is good." N. J. Leighty, Booth, Kansas.

Eczema.—"Hood's Sarsaparilla and Hood's Olive Ointment cured eczema very quickly. I would not be without them." Mrs. Rayner, 126 Kellogg Street, Fall River, Mass.

Tired Feeling.—"We take Hood's Sarsaparilla for our spring medicine and whenever we have that tired feeling and we find it is good." Mrs. John Work, Cochran, Pa.

cottage at Hedding for the season and will stay there until the first frosts of next October. Their summer home among the pines is so inviting in its appearance and offers such inducements to linger there and rest, that I do not wonder at the love with which the estimable clergyman and his good wife cherish the beautiful spot.

I understand the Portsmouth Kittery and York street railway company is buying up the right of way from the Kittery railroad station to the Eliot bridge, which means a trolley line to Eliot, probably this summer. The company, I was told on Tuesday evening, has already secured passage way through several farms and is busily negotiating with other estates along the route which the cars are to follow.

The Veteran firemen say they mean to make their forthcoming muster one which will lead followers of the calendar to put down a wide red mark opposite the date when it occurs. They are all very enthusiastic over it and are making their plans in a spirit which promises complete success.

They landed some big mackerel at the Boston wharves last Saturday. There were three thousand barrels in all, and some of the fish weighed over five pounds apiece, an unusual weight. These mackerel were taken off Block Island. One of our fishing firms brought a number of them to this city on Monday and Tuesday. They are whoppers. I dislike to use that word, but it seems to express their size better than any other that I can think of.

Fishermen tell me that the high sea kicked up by the storm of Sunday and Monday subsided with an abruptness which is considered astonishing. It was unusually fierce while the storm was at its height, but when it did fall, it went to pieces so suddenly that the ancient mariners of Strawberry Bank still marvel at it.

That long car intended for the construction and repair department at the navy yard has attracted no little attention since it arrived in the Boston and Maine railroad yard. It is sixty feet long and its trucks are so low that its bulk is made all the more conspicuous. It was built for very heavy loads and it looks fully capable of bearing all the burdens of steel or iron which may be piled upon it.

I have been tempted to borrow a pole and some tackle and go down the river after pollock, since my gaze fell upon one of these fish which a man had pulled from the water on the left side of the channel, near Clark's island, Monday, and which weighed almost fifteen pounds. I never have seen a fatter pollock. By the way, the fishermen who know how are hooking a lot of splendid fish down river nowadays.

General Fitz John Porter's wish in relation to his statue which is to be erected in this city is certain of fulfillment. He desired that it should not be put up until after his death. General Porter died on Tuesday, and now those having the matter in their care can proceed with the knowledge that they are not anticipating his wishes.

Where shall the statue be located? I have heard Haymarket square favorably mentioned by a number of people, while others have said that they thought Haven park to be the proper place. Thus public opinion appears about equally divided. It is likely that some action in the matter will be taken at Thursday evening's meeting of the city government.

"This has been the worst spring for house painting that I have ever seen," said a painter, on Tuesday. "No sooner do the houses get dry enough on the outside to commence work than another storm comes along. A lot of houses will go unpainted for this reason, as so many persons care to have painters about whom the flies are as thick as they will be a little later."

The man who invented that new gun for dissipating rain storms and experimented with it in Colorado, a week or two ago, picked out the wrong section of the country for trying it. He ought to have brought it to this settlement of ours and touched it off up on the Look-out. The thing is shaped like a megaphone. When the cartridge in the bottom is fired, it sends a big circle of clear up into the sky for two or three miles, I believe, after the style of a ring of smoke from an old man's clay pipe. This gas puts out of commission any storm within quite a radius.

melts hailstones a foot round, sends the clouds off with their tails between their legs, and makes the sun laugh till he's red in the face. We could have kept a dozen of these guns puffing gas in a pretty lively manner for the past week.

"Doctor Pangloss" in the Boston Traveler says: "The 'pome' for the official opening of the Buffalo fair was of about the usual grade of such things—flat, commonplace, uninspired. Why must all verses for occasion be of that order?" For the simple reason, Doctor, that good poetry can't be reeled off by the yard, at any time, like the tape of a stock ticker. When it is turned out by order, it becomes doggerel. Fellows who have any respect for themselves or for poetry never plump the Muse down in front of a barrel organ and command her to grind out melody for an occasion. The poor girl can't do it.

While the sunlight of spring floods the land and the budding trees sweeten all the winds, young America is sorrowful: he does not share in the happiness of nature. Not a solitary circus is billed for Portsmouth this season which is enough to make any boy so cross that he will use harsh words to his parents and his grandma and wear frowns to school. Will somebody please bring a three-ring show, "elefunts" and all, to town? It would make things go much smoother in many a household where there is a Tommy or an Eddie in the sulks.

MAN-ABOUT-TOWN.

WILL BE A BIG AFFAIR.

The Knights of Pythias Uniform Bank Encampment in Portland.

The New England encampment of the Uniform Rank, K. of P., which is to be held in Portland in July, promises to be the largest affair of the kind ever held by this uniformed body. Assurances have been given the local committee which is making arrangements for the affair that fully 1,000 men will go there for the five days and it is anticipated that there will be many others besides those already heard from. The intention now is to have the encampment on Long island.

A firm in Cleveland has made a proposition and a most reasonable one, to go there and put up sufficient tents for the accommodation of the men in camp and take them down when the affair is over, for a lump sum. Big marquees will also be erected by them as dining tents and headquarters. Some caterer will undoubtedly be given the contract for furnishing meals during the encampment.

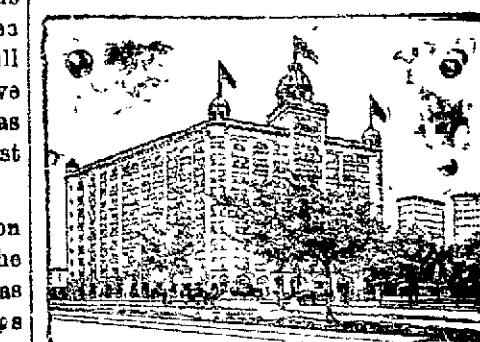

The plan is to have daily exhibitions of fancy drills, dress parades and on one day there will be a big parade in Portland. It is the purpose of the local committee, if possible, to raise enough money to offer large prizes for the best drilled organizations, with the idea of inducing many people to go there.

Portsmouth and this vicinity will undoubtedly be well represented at the encampment. If there are any prizes to be offered, Portsmouth or Kittery might go down and bring back a few.

"NOTHING BETWEEN THEM."

The Law of Contrast.
It is curious how juxtaposition will affect the appearance of the individual.
Every one knows how it is with colors,
how a lovely tint in itself will pale and look quite washed out and faded if placed beside a brighter tone of the same color and how a discordant contrast will destroy all beauty. But women seldom realize how their own appearance is affected by being near their opposites. A stout woman will look stouter and a thin woman thinner if standing near each other.
A girl with a vivid bloom will make all the rest of a group appear wan. A tall person has much the advantage of a short one in such comparisons and the slight figure over the one inclined to em-bonpoint.
It is a sad fact, but it is nevertheless true, that a mother generally suffers greatly in contrast with her tall, slim young daughter. She suddenly looks old and shapeless when she appears in society attended by her pretty debutante.
Fortunately most mothers are so unselfish that they do not mind this, but some do and show it. In considering this law of contrast, older women should avoid bright colors. Black and white suit them the best. If this seems to them too somber, a single touch of color may be used. A tall, white haired woman at a recent function wore a black velvet costume and hat with a single orange colored tassel amid the jet of trimmings.
Nothing is so effective with silver hair, but it must be pure white. One touch of color ruins the picture.—Fashion Exchange.

Moderate Drinking.
It Paves the Way to Degradation
and Ruin.
Paving the way to a drunkard's grave is what hundreds of young men are doing. They are laying stone after stone in a pavement which leads to destruction. Young man, pause! Are you among the hundreds? Are you laying stone after stone and going step after step to this destruction? Think of the mothers, sisters and wives' tears, think of that father's gray head bowed with grief and think of the brother's pleading! Again, I say, pause before it is too late, before you have laid that last and dreadful stone, destruction.
After it is laid and you are in a drunkard's grave all earthly help is in vain. You have walked through life on a pavement where every stone you laid has brought deeper shame. Young man, will you go on and on when you see the folly? I hope and pray not. I think one of the most dangerous of these stones is the one he lays who
"just takes a glass, a social glass, you know, with the boys now and then, just so I will not seem odd."
Ah, how much better to "seem odd" than to ruin a life forever! Show your colors, boys. It may influence some one to stop ere he has completed this pavement and laid the last dread stone. Are you a moderate drinker—one who as yet has control of himself?
Then stop, for when this stone is laid along comes the stone drinkiness.
Moderate drinking is a stone this pavement is not complete without.
Many have gone on year after year,
laying stone after stone, never pausing until they have laid the stone destruction and sleep in drunkard's graves.
Young man, if you are paying your way to a drunkard's grave leave the pavement incomplete. Stop where you are!—Banner of Gold.

Bad Whisky Increasing Insanity.

"There has been a remarkable increase of insanity in this city in recent years," said Assistant Warden Rickard of Bellevue hospital. "Here at this hospital, where most of the cases are examined, a case of insanity was not so common 20 years ago as to fail to attract the attention of everybody connected with the institution. Now we have about 2,000 insanity cases a year at the hospital." Mr. Rickard opened a book and showed that during the year 1893 1,150 men and 945 women had been sent to the hospital as insane patients. Of the whole number only 103 had been discharged as cured or not insane, while 778 men and 745 women had been sent to the asylums on the islands, and the rest had been sent to other institutions.
"Most of the insane persons die within a few years after being sent to the asylums," Mr. Rickard said. "From my observation of insanity cases here I have come to believe that the increase of insanity is largely due to the use of impure liquor. The ordinary whisky sold now contains so much poison that it is liable to make any person who drinks it crazy."—New York Tribune.

Drink in Switzerland.

Switzerland has stringent rules for the repression of drunkenness which add somewhat to the orderliness of localities where public houses are situated. The regulations vary in the different cantons. The unemployed father of a family dare not loiter about the public house in Ticino. Bern's special laws are that drunken and disorderly persons may be excluded from the saloons for two years, and abettors of pauperism, drinking and gambling are subject to a sentence of 60 days at hard labor. Homes for inebriates are provided in Zurich. Saloon keepers are bound to maintain good order and are responsible for the behavior of their servants. These laws are based upon present enlightenment on the drink evil and must eventually be displaced by the liberty by which all are made free—the removal of the temptation which weakens and debases.

A New Addiction.

The time worn vices of morphomania and alcoholism have been to some degree superseded by "petrolism," which is described by physicians who have treated patients for it as "a grim novelty, almost without parallel." The taste for petroleum, it is said, grows upon the tippler until it develops into an irresistible passion. Physicians who devote themselves to the various forms of dipsomania have not yet had opportunity to study the full effects of petrolism, and their views as to its cure and future are somewhat divergent. But the consensus of opinion is that the victim of the new habit is sad and melancholy. The mineral oil does not temporarily stimulate and encourage like alcohol or morphine.—Versailles (Ky.) Sun.

An Army Ruined by Abstinence.

Some sensational facts concerning the prevalence of abstinence drinking in the Swiss army have lately been published by Dr. Chatelet, a military doctor in active service.
He stated that out of the 200,000 men who have passed under his care within the last four years 24,000 men were suffering from the effects of abstinence
in a greater or less degree.
Official statistics, he adds, also show that 12 per cent of the male population over 20 years of age of the 15 largest towns in Switzerland are every year the victims of abstinence, and the vice is spreading to an alarming extent.
Dr. Chatelet advocates the passing of a bill for the control of the sale of abstinence.—London Express.

Arrests Due to Drink.

In 15 of the largest American cities, according to the census of 1890, there were during 1889 the enormous number of 465,514 arrests, and 339,737 of these were due directly to drink.

The Milliner.

We always imagine that when a milliner goes to church on Sunday she has thoughts something like these: "That's mine." "I wonder where that fright came from." "That's mine, but she hasn't it on right," etc.—Harrison Globe.

THE BLIGHT OF RUM, AN INSIDIOUS DRUG.

CRIME AND PAUPERISM DUE TO ALCOHOLIC DRINKS.

A Statement of Facts Showing the Degrading Effects of Alcohol by Hereditary Descent From Generation to Generation.

In a paper read at the seventh international congress against the use of alcoholic liquors N. S. Davis, M. D., of Chicago said:
The more direct object of this paper is to invite attention to the effects of alcohol not only directly on the nerve cells of the brain connected with the manifestation of the higher and more delicate mental and moral faculties of man, but also to the perpetuation of these pervading and degrading effects by hereditary descent from generation to generation. Communities and nations are all composed of individuals.
Consequently whatever is clearly traceable from parent to child in the family is equally applicable to the aggregation of families composing the nation.
The history of the notoriously intemperate woman and her descendants given by one of the professors of the University of Bonn is only one of many that might be cited to illustrate this subject. It is stated that the woman was born in 1740 and died in 1800. Her descendants during the past century have numbered 334, of whom 700 have been traced from their youth. Of these 7 were convicted of murder, 76 of other crimes, 142 were professional beggars, and 64 lived on charity, and 180 of the women lived disreputable lives.

In 1894 the legislature of the state of Massachusetts directed Horace G.
Wadlin, chief of the labor bureau, to ascertain "how much crime and pauperism are due to alcoholic drinks." He consequently made a careful examination of the inmates of all the public charitable institutions, prisons and asylums for the insane in that state in 1895 and made his report in 1896. The number of paupers examined was 3,620, 65 per cent of whom had been addicted to the use of alcoholic drinks; 48 per cent had one or both parents likewise addicted to the same drink. The whole number confined under conviction of crime during the same year was 26,672, of whom 82 per cent were more or less under the influence of liquor at the time of committing crime; 4,852 others were under the influence of liquor when the intent to commit crime was formed, making 94 per cent of the whole series of alcoholic drink. Of these 28 per cent had drinking fathers and 21 per cent drinking mothers.

Of the insane 1,836 cases were examined, of whom 52 per cent had been addicted to the use of alcoholic drink.
Of these 28 per cent had one or both parents addicted to the same drink, and 51 per cent had grandparents with like habits. Mr. Wadlin's conclusions were that the use of "alcohol tends directly to create a permanently pauper-ized population" and "to create criminal instincts." The same direct and thorough examination would show the same or worse results in every state and country in Europe and America.
How could this be otherwise if, as shown by Dr. Debove, from the most authentic sources, the amount of absolute alcohol consumed annually in France is 14 liters for every man, woman and child; in Belgium and Germany each 10.5 liters; in the British Isles 9.25 liters; Switzerland, 5.75 liters;
Italy, 6.60 liters; Holland, 6.25 liters;
United States of America, 6.10 liters; Sweden, 4.50 liters; Norway, 3 liters, and Canada, 2 liters?

When it is remembered that in all these countries there are many men and a much larger number of women and children who drink no alcohol, the total amount drunk is such as could not fail to produce the most important degenerating influence on both the mental and physical condition of those who do drink it. Indeed the facts to which we have already alluded are sufficient to show that if those who do drink any kind of alcoholic liquors were compelled to internment only among themselves their part of the population would become extinct in one or two centuries. Their free intermarriage with total abstainers is all that has prevented their extinction longer this, and yet it is this that has enabled them to diffuse or propagate their moral and physical degeneration through all ranks of society and fill more almshouses, asylums and reformatories and prisons than there are schoolhouses and churches and to fill important space in almost every daily newspaper with accounts of vicious revelry, burglaries, highway robberies, murders and suicides occurring in even
the very centers of population and wealth.

The earth brings forth annually enough food and clothing to supply the necessaries of the whole human family, and there are abundant facilities for their distribution if properly used. But so long as enough such food material is destroyed to make millions of barrels of alcoholic drinks and billions of dollars are paid by those who consume it annually so long will poverty, imbecility, insanity and crime increase.

A Successful Experiment.

The good condition and good behavior of the troops in South Africa are recognized as largely due to the fact that they have had no strong drink.
General Kelly, L. A. G., said lately to a newspaper correspondent: "This campaign has been run entirely on teatotal principles and the experiment has proved wonderfully successful."

Few Abstainers Convicted.

Only 97 abstainers were convicted by court martial last year in India, as against seventeen times that number of nonabstainers who were convicted.
And yet the abstainers were a third of the whole Indian army.

COCAINE AS BAD AS ALCOHOL IN ITS BALEFUL EFFECTS.

Its Habitual Use Leads to the Overthrow of Both Mind and Body—it Stimulates but to Destroy—A Timely Warning.

No drug known to pharmacy has had such an unprecedented rise in price as the deadly cocaine, and most surprising of all is the fact that the advance is caused by increased demand alone, and the victims who are fortunately poor may find in this advance their only salvation. Those who have money will still have it, for once ensnared in its insidious meshes there is no escape.
Quinine, another stimulating and fever destroying drug from Peru, had a flurry several years ago, but this was due largely to a shortage in the eu-phonia bark crop and not to a sudden and unheard of increase in the demand for the drug. In the case of cocaine the demand has outstripped the supply to an enormous degree.

No warning, no restrictive or prohibitive legislation and no agitation against such things has ever been definitive of cure, but without any such legislation, and with the people assuming a knowledge of the effects of the drug similar to that generally possessed concerning quinine, the danger can be readily conceived. Cocaine is the most insidious drug ever discovered. It exalts the user beyond the exaltation produced by Indian hemp, quinine, liquor, opium or any other narcotic or stimulant. It is a stimulant of wonderful potency. Its power of producing local cessation of pain or even feeling is its most dangerous element.

The shrub from which cocaine is derived is used extensively by the natives of Peru and Bolivia, where it is found,
as a stimulant.
They chew the leaves and are enabled to withstand the exhaustion due to high altitudes and mountain climbing. Cocaine is composed of carbon, hydrogen and nitrotyl reduced to a sulphate. Each element of the compound has a direct influence on the nervous system, blood and lymphatics. It possesses the singular property of killing all sensation of pain in the parts where it is locally applied, while elevating the mind of the patient to a pitch of exaltation absolutely without parallel.

Habitual use of cocaine has but two results. They are mere alternatives at that. One is the overthrow of the mind before the body is utterly destroyed;
the other is the collapse of mind and body together. No other end is possible. Indefinite in time, the result is as certain as fate. No escape but abandonment of the use is possible. Once well fixed on the victim, the abandonment is practically hopeless. Opium victims develop a certain cunning. They seek by every means in their power to disguise the fact. Cocaine victims, on the other hand, do not apparently attempt so much secrecy. Still, when aware of the dreadful fetters, they will also evade the matter and give false replies to questions concerning why they use it. It is probable that the use became habitual in the first place by reason of the carelessness of physicians.
Too little knowledge of the baleful effect was combined with a too great knowledge of the power to produce local anesthesia. It was used to allay toothache, to stop the pain of neuralgia and as an anesthetic in minor surgery. The patient was advised to use a very mild solution to allay pain in the eyes, nasal passages, etc. Thus by degrees the lay public became acquainted with one effect of the drug without the other being made known to it until too late. Now the habit has outgrown that of opium eating, drinking and every other form of dissipation. In fact, many a man has adopted cocaine to drive away the headache following a spree the night before. He thus combines two things certain to produce mental and physical collapse.

Hundreds in the big cities apply for a little cocaine now where one did a few years ago. A man is always advised not to use the stuff when he asks for it. A doctor in a big city said recently: "I think any man who tampers with the stuff is a fool. I have one case in mind right now. He is a clerk in a down town store. A few months ago he bought a little on the advice of a friend, not a doctor, to stop toothache. I tried to prevent it, but he was determined. Today that young fellow uses a dollar's worth each day."

"They all say that they can stop it when they want to. They all have some ailment which doesn't amount to much, but which is painful. They have learned that it will kill pain, and they want it only for that. But the fact is it acts so gently at first that a man has the habit before he knows it, and then it's goodbye. The victims use it in the form of a solution, the only way a layman knows anything about. Usually a 5 per cent solution is strong enough for all purposes. It is used in many different ways, but snuffing up the nose and injection seem to be the most frequent methods employed. Some victims have a mania for applying it with the finger. They rub the stuff on the gum and are soon very happy."

"Bully is about the best word to use in describing its effects. I see it, it will kill off pain almost at once. Then the man grows contented with his lot.
He forgives his enemies and wants to give all he has to his friends. He knows he is the best man on earth and that the earth and people are all lovely works of art. He has no cares and no worries while the fit lasts. When it is over, he has a set of nerves which are out of gear. The victim who emerges from the influence is a pitiable object.
Indeed. The stuff will kill him or drive him mad if he does not shut off absolutely. Then he suffers torments which hell cannot equal, so one of them told me."—Bagnaw (Mich.) Courier-Herald.

THE PERFECT WAY.

Scores of Portsmouth Citizens Have

If you suffer from Backache
There is only one way to cure it.
The perfect way is to cure the kid-

A bad back means sick kidneys.

Mr. Lemuel White of 26 Bridge street, says:—"I had something wrong with my kidneys for five years; at first there were pains and aches in the small of my back; then annoyance from the kidney secretions set in and broke my rest at night. I was oppressed with languor and loss of energy. I thought from reading notices about Doan's Kidney Pills that they might help me and I procured a box at Philbrick's pharmacy.

They acted on my kidneys right away.
The urinary difficulty was at first to mend.
When on my second box I could sit comfortably without experiencing that jerk-ing of the limbs that every other remedy had failed to stop. I am confident that a better remedy does not exist."

WEDNESDAY, MAY 22, 1901.

"About this time," the almanac might say, "look out for strikes."

Will someone please chop off a few yards of this east wind for use later in the season?

The cadets at West Point will have to be real good boys even if it becomes necessary to get some new boys.

The sooner that New York gets over the notion that she is all there is of America, the better for the city and yachting in particular.

Probably the tramps that strike down in Maine are no worse or no better than the usual breed, but the Bangor Commercial definition of the genuine "bo leads one to think that a good specimen was studied to reach the conclusion. Says the Commercial: "The professional tramp is a worthless if not a dangerous element in society, for no appeal to moral sense, self respect, ambition or usefulness can have any influence in his reformation. The one thing he abhors in his innermost soul is work, and he will live without work to the end of his lifeless, shiftless and entirely useless life, if he is permitted to do so."

It is a New York opinion that sentiment of a very poetic sort, and of a proper sort, too, is involved in the reconstruction of the old frigate Constitution, which the ladies of the Massachusetts Society of the Daughters of 1812 are now really going to undertake, under the authority of an act of congress permitting the rehabilitation of Old Ironsides for the purposes of a training ship. The Constitution is already much like the old lady's "original old stock ing," which had been from time to time provided with new legs and new feet; it has been rebuilt sundry times. However, these reconstructions have always followed the old lines, and for all any one knows to the contrary, there may yet be much of the old timber in her. At any rate, Dr. Holmes's ode to the great old ship remains intact. The ode is more than the ship; the ship survives because of it. The real timbers of Old Ironsides are the verses of the poem, and consequently are indestructible. The Constitution is a literary rather than a nautical survival; but, possibly all the more effectively on that account, future mariners of a very bold and patriotic sort ought to be trained on her.

HE CAME RIGHT HOME.

In the "Sketch Book" in the Manchester Union of Tuesday is the following:

A middle aged man came to the city the other day from Portsmouth. He was a resident of Manchester a number of years ago, and while here, was engaged in the butcher business. He called on a number of his old acquaintances and those whom he could not find, he inquired for. Dropping into a place on Central street, after the usual greetings, he asked:

"Where's Tom Rob, now?"

"He's up to the Reform school," was the reply.

"Gee!" he exclaimed, "I thought he was too old for that. Where's Gene Libbey?"

"Libbey's at the city farm," he was told.

"Is that so? Well, I always thought he would come to it. Where's Cox?"

He was told that "Cox is up in the state prison."

He evidently thought that the butcher business was unwise in Manchester, for he immediately inquired what time the next train left for Portsmouth.

OBITUARY.

Gen. Fitz-John Porter.

The death of Fitz John Porter, which occurred at his home in Morristown, N. J., Tuesday morning, removes a conspicuous figure.

Fitz-John Porter was born in Portsmouth, June 13, 1822. He was a nephew of Commodore David Porter. He was appointed to the military academy at West Point, being graduated in 1845. He entered the army as brevet second lieutenant of artillery; served throughout the war with Mexico from Vera Cruz to the capture of the City of Mexico, being wounded in the assault on the capital Sept. 13, 1847. He was brevetted captain and major for gallantry at Molino del Rey and Chapultepec.

From 1849 to 1855 he was stationed at West Point as instructor of artillery and cavalry, and was for a year adjutant of the post. Transferred to the adjutant general's department with the rank of captain in June, 1856, he served in this capacity at various points, being from 1857 to 1860 assistant adjutant general of the Utah expedition.

He was appointed colonel of the Fifteenth infantry May 14, 1861, and three days later brigadier general of volunteers, and served as chief of staff with General Patterson and General Banks until August, 1861, when he was assigned to the command of a division in the defense of Washington. In the Virginia peninsula campaign he was director of the siege of Yorktown, and upon the evacuation of that place was placed in command of the Fifth corps, which formed the right wing of the army, and fought the battles of Mechanicsville and Gaines's Mill. At Malvern Hill he was in command and his corps mainly resisted the assaults of that day. In the second battle of Bull Run his corps suffered severely on Aug. 30, but was not engaged on the 29th, except in holding the enemy in check and preventing them turning Pope's left. He received no orders to attack until it was too late to carry out the movement.

Continuing in command of his corps, he was present at Antietam, but in November was arraigned before a court martial on the charge of disobedience of orders at Manassas, and on Jan. 21, 1863, was cashiered. A new trial was granted him in 1878, and the court recommended that the former conviction should be reversed and he be restored to his former position in the army. A portion of the sentence which prohibited him holding office was remitted by President Arthur in 1882, and in July, 1886, he was restored to his former rank. He was retired in August of that year at his own request.

From 1881 to 1888 General Porter served as police commissioner of New York city.

Mary Abby Bachelder.

Miss Mary Abby Bachelder, a respected resident of Little Bear's Head, died at her home on Tuesday night, after a long sickness. She was born in 1843 and was a life long resident of the place. She is survived by a brother, Albert Bachelder of Little Bear's Head.

Mrs. Sophia J. Moran.

One of the city's most respected and aged women, Mrs. Sophia J. Moran, a life long resident, passed away at her home, No. 2 Court street, on Tuesday evening, her age being eighty-five years, two months and seven days. She was the daughter of the late Brackett Johnson and was also the mother of Mrs. Calvin Page. Mrs. Moran is remembered as having conducted a hair store on Market street during the sixties. The funeral will be at the home, No. 2 Court street, on Friday afternoon and the services will be private.

Mrs. Catherine T. Ellis.

Mrs. Catherine T. Ellis of Hyde Park, Mass., the wife of Charles J. Ellis of that place, passed away quite suddenly of acute Bright's disease, at the home of her sister, Mrs. Joseph White, No. 20 Austin street, Tuesday night, aged fifty-six years, two months and twenty-nine days. "Pain in the head and back" is a form of suffering with which so many women are familiar. Often this pain is associated with nervousness, sleeplessness and loss of appetite. The cause of such suffering is generally to be traced to derangement of the womanly function, or a diseased condition of the delicate womanly organs.

In such cases the action of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is marvelous in the prompt relief of pain and permanent cure of disease. It regulates the periodic function, dries disagreeable drains, heals inflammation and ulceration, and cures female weakness. It cures when all other means have been tried in vain.

Sick women are invited to consult Dr. Pierce, by letter, for all correspondence is held as strictly private and sacredly confidential. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

In a little over thirty years Dr. Pierce, assisted by his staff of nearly a score of physicians, has cured more than half a million women.

"I was a great sufferer for six years and doctored all the time with a number of different physicians, but did not receive any benefit," writes Mrs. George Sogden, of 441 Bond Street, Saginaw (South), Mich. "One day as I was reading a paper I saw your advertisement, and although I had given up all hope of ever getting better, I thought I would write to you. When I received your letter telling me what to do I commenced to take your Favorite Prescription and followed your advice. I have taken ten bottles in all, also five vials of the 'Pleasant Pellets.' Am now regular, after having missed two years and suffered with pain in the head and back. I was so nervous, could not eat or sleep. Now I thank you for my recovery."

The conditions of the contest are as follows, a most liberal offer:

The Portsmouth Herald agrees to send three residents of Portsmouth, who are either members of the Portsmouth fire department, a social club or of some secret society, to the Pan-American exposition, pay all their expenses from the time they leave, until they return, including a week in Buffalo, with board and lodging and admission to the exposition daily.

This offer beats anything ever announced by any newspaper in New England, and is so far above the expense and interest of a trip to the national inauguration that it cannot be mentioned in the same class.

The contest will not be restricted to gentlemen but will be open to any lady who is a member of the various secret societies or auxiliary societies in Portsmouth.

The trip will include stop over privileges en route and returning and first class accommodations will be provided. In order that every detail of the grand tour may be properly looked after, the publishers will either send an agent in advance or with the party to make arrangements.

Everybody knows that the Pan-American exposition at Buffalo is to be grander and greater in every way than the World's fair and the visit will be the event of a lifetime.

The contest opened on Monday, March 4, when the first ballot appeared and which will appear daily until June 1, next, the last ballot to appear on the latter date, and the three persons having the greatest number of votes will have the grand privilege that has been offered. The last ballots must be received at the Herald office by 7:30 p. m., on Wednesday June 5, and the results of the contest will be announced at the earliest possible date.

This is an opportunity never before equalled in this section of the country and well worth the attention of every one eligible for such a trip. Vote early and vote often. Elect yourself.

HENNESSEY IS MISSING

Portsmouth Man Gone Two Weeks and No Word.

Man Who Killed Himself in New York Answers Description.

Hennessey Started to Visit His Sister There But Has Not Arrived.

Patrick Hennessey, a fireman at the Portsmouth electric light station, whose home is at 50 Bow street, left Portsmouth on Monday, May 6, stating that he was going to visit his sister, Mrs. Annie Coyle, 495 West 53rd street, New York city.

He has not arrived at his sister's home in New York and his relatives here have received no word from him.

His folks here are very anxious, for an unknown man, answering Hennessey's description, committed suicide by cutting his throat on a Staten Island ferryboat, Monday, May 14, afterward jumping into the river.

Hennessey is 37 years of age, has a wife and five children, and has been a good husband and father. He is temperate and industrious and no reason, other than temporary insanity, can be offered for his disappearance.

STRANGE INSECTS ARRIVED.

Resemble Somewhat the June Bugs but More Pesticiferous.

Quite a swarm of bugs struck here one evening the first part of the week. About sunset the air in the neighborhood of the east was filled with myriads of the insects. Most of them passed along without pausing in their flight.

An examination of the insect failed to disclose its identity with any of the species familiar in this locality, but they tally closely with the descriptions of the insects that have appeared in the northern and eastern parts of Maine.

As to their destructive tendencies, there are no reports coming from these parts that any damage was done to foliage the same as in Hartford, Me., but as already noted the insects did not seem to take kindly to the atmosphere here and kept right on in their flight. It now remains to be seen where this insect band will show up next, and whether when they again deign to light on the earth they will commit the devastation which characterized the insect reported in other parts of the state.

They kept along about ten feet above the earth's surface, and ordinarily they were invisible to the casual observer. Several specimens of the little creatures were captured and are now being shown around, and they excite no end of comment. They are about the size of what they call here "June" bugs, and have no color to distinguish them from ordinary "midges." But they jump like fleas, and fly very swiftly and in a perfectly straight direction.

The reports of the insect that has visited the northern part of the state say that it is very voracious, and when a swarm of them settle down on a bush they strip it of foliage in less than no time. They do not seem to be particularly about what they eat either, and will tackle most anything in sight. But fortunately they did not linger long.

They were probably bound for the country further south where the foliage is more abundant at this time of year.

Chronic Constipation Cured.

The most important discovery of recent years is the positive remedy for constipation. Cascarets Candy Cathartic. Cure guaranteed. Genuine tablets stamped C. C. C. Never sold in bulk. Druggists, roc.

YOU ARE NEXT.

A rare, beautiful and sparkling gem, surrounded by extensive and primeval forests, that's Rangleys; and as a fishing or health resort few places equal it. The group is made up of a chain of six lakes, and each abounds in the choicest species of salmon and trout. Fishing is a recreative sport which numbers its devotees by the tens of thousands, and why shouldn't it, for it takes one away from the turmoil and excitement of the city, and there is nothing to do but to enjoy the bright sunshine, and health giving air and the calm and quiet atmosphere that pervades the region. Everywhere about the Rangleys are first-class camps, cabins and hotels in which one may comfortably enjoy his spring visitation. And so accessible has the region become through the introduction of the "Iron Horse" that the sportsman leaving Boston on the night Pullman is landed at his rendezvous by noon of the following day. An interesting guide on fishing, entitled "Fishing and Hunting," is published by the Passenger Department of the Boston & Maine Railroad, Boston, and for a two-cent stamp you can get it, and if you are a fisherman, you need it.

PAT GLEASON IS DEAD.

Famous Mayor of Long Island City.

HAD A PICTURESQUE CAREER.

He Wielded a Battle Ax Against the Long Island Railroad and Ruled His City as a Benevolent Despot. His Unique Mailroad.

New York, May 21.—Patrick Gleason, former mayor of Long Island City, died last night at 10:30 o'clock from heart failure.

As the "battle-axe mayor" Patrick J. Gleason attained a distinction which is remembered better perhaps than most of his other adventures, although he had experiences enough to fill volumes. He thrived on contention, and his love of strife continued from the day he whipped all the boys of his native parish in Ireland until he made a physical attack on the property of a railroad corporation, ripping up its rails with his own hand, smashing its fences with a broadsword and gaining for himself the sobriquet which clung to him to the day of his death.

Patrick Gleason was one of six stalwart sons. He was 6 feet 1 inch in height and the smallest of the family. One brother had the gigantic stature of 6 feet 7 inches. Patrick came to this country in 1862. On the day of his arrival he was assaulted by two volunteer firemen. He thrashed both, and he used to say that he never stopped fighting somebody or something from that time forth. He settled in Williamsburg, learned the distilling business and made a fortune. When the government imposed a huge revenue tax on him, he could not pay, and his property was confiscated.

He was charged with defrauding the government out of $415,000 and was put under the extraordinary bail of $125,000. When his case came to trial, he was acquitted.

His First Political Work.

His first entrance into politics was in the Greeley campaign, when he ran for assembly and was defeated by 15 votes. All his money was gone, and he had an actual cash capital of 50 cents when he borrowed $300 and sailed for California. He was shipwrecked off the coast of Mexico, went to South America, worked his way back to San Francisco and obtained employment in a distillery.

He showed the proprietor how the product could be increased and was paid $5,000 for his secret. With this he speculated in stocks and ran his capital up to $32,000.

He came east again and started a railroad from the Thirty-fourth street ferry to Calvary cemetery. He handled the pick and shovel himself and began operating the road with one car and four horses. He was driver, conductor and president, and from this small beginning the road became a valuable property and was sold to William Steiway for a handsome figure.

In 1876 Gleason was a member of the board of aldermen of Long Island City. At that time Henry S. Debevoise, the mayor, was lodged in jail on a charge of misappropriating $170,000 of the city's funds, made by Gleason. Gleason then became president of the board of aldermen and took an active part in getting Long Island City out of its financial troubles.

Mayor For Many Years.

In 1887 he was elected mayor and held that office until 1893, when Horatio S. Sanford opposed him. This was one of the hottest elections in the history of Long Island City. Gleason claimed the election up to the last moment and had to be ejected from the city hall by the police when Sanford went to take possession of the office after the courts had decided against Gleason.

In 1896 Gleason became mayor again after a bitter fight. He would have remained in office until 1903 had he not been legislated out by the act creating the Greater New York. He served as a member of the Greater New York commission.

He caused great excitement when he cut down the sheds of the Long Island railroad in Front street, saying they were obstructions to the highway. For this his constituents presented a battle-axe to him and organized what was known as the Battle-axe club.

He used the ax as an emblem in all his campaigns afterward. His last candidacy for public office was for mayor of Greater New York, when he ran on an independent ticket in the fall of 1897.

Croaker to Return About Aug. 15.

New York, May 21.—Richard Croker will not return to New York until Aug. 15 if he adheres to plans indicated by a letter received here. In it he invites a friend to visit him at Wantage in July and intimates that he will ask him to come back with him about the middle of the next month. The friend is making arrangements to sail as requested.

MRS. MCKINLEY TO GO HOME.

President Will Take Her to Canton as Soon as She is Able to Travel.

San Francisco, May 21.—Although Mrs. McKinley's condition has greatly improved, the physicians have named a week or ten days as the shortest possible time in which she can gather strength to make the trip across the continent. The immediate members of the presidential party will therefore remain here for that length of time, though it is probable that the others will leave for the east during the present week.

The president and Mrs. McKinley will go direct from San Francisco to Canton. At Mrs. McKinley's old home, surrounded by familiar faces and with every comfort, it is said her recuperation will be more rapid than if she went to Washington. President McKinley spends much of each summer at Canton, and the arrival there will be not far from the date of his regular annual visit. He probably will proceed immediately to Washington after leaving Mrs. McKinley, returning to Canton as soon as the more pressing public business has been disposed of. Miss Mary Barber, Mrs. McKinley's niece, will go with Mrs. McKinley to Canton.

President and Mrs. McKinley will occupy a different car from that which brought them to this coast. The new car, however, is one of the same kind and fully as luxurious. The train will be about as large as the one that came west, having accommodations for the president and cabinet and ladies, Secretary and Mrs. Cortelyou, Dr. and Mrs. Rixey, Mr. and Mrs. Moore, Assistant Secretary Barnes and the White House staff and 11 members of the press and photographers.

The Ogden route will be taken. Governor Gage has been informed by the president that no stops of any length would be made at Sacramento or elsewhere en route. The president will not leave the train, though he may speak briefly from the rear platform at one or two important cities.

Secretary Cortelyou issued the following bulletin at 9 o'clock last night:

"Mrs. Hirschfelder and Gibbons met Dr. Rixey at 8:30 p. m. They find that Mrs. McKinley's improvement has continued throughout the day and that her condition tonight is excellent. Drs. Hirschfelder, Gibbons and Cushing will meet Dr. Rixey at 11:30 a. m. tomorrow."

Washington Murder Mystery Solved.

Washington, May 21.—The mystery attending the killing of James Seymour Ayres, a census office clerk, in the Kenmore hotel early last Wednesday morning and which because of the peculiar circumstances surrounding it has aroused Washington more than any tragedy in several years has been solved by a voluntary confession from Mrs. Lulu I. Bonine, a married woman and a guest at the house, that the three shots which ended Ayres' life had been fired in a struggle between herself and Ayres. Mrs. Bonine's husband is a commercial traveler for the wholesale drug house of Dewitt & Co., Chicago. Mrs. Bonine said that she was alone in Ayres' room with him when the killing took place and that the shooting was the result of his own misconduct.

Victory For Callahan.

Omaha, May 21.—Attorneys for James Callahan, the alleged kidnaper, appeared in the district court and moved for a judgment in the robbery and larceny cases pending in connection with the kidnapping of young Edward Cudahy. The pleading was for the discharge of the defendant on the ground that he had already been put in jeopardy for the same offense as is alleged in each of the remaining cases. The court sustained the motion to discharge. This action finally disposes of all the cases against Callahan excepting the one of false imprisonment and the new case of perjury. Callahan's bond was reduced from $8,500 to $3,000.

Windfall For Depositors.

Ovid, N. Y., May 21.—It is announced that the expert accountants engaged in unraveling the accounts of the Partridge bank in this village, which failed, have found more than $500,000 assets in notes, stocks, bonds, mortgages and real estate which it was supposed had been sold. This was unexpected and has created considerable excitement, as it is probable now that the bank will declare a dividend of about 80 per cent, which is much more than even the most sanguine had thought would be realized from the crash. The liabilities are not definitely known, but are believed to be near $700,000.

Trolley on Edge of Precipice.

New York, May 21.—About 30 trolley passengers had a very narrow escape from death near Paterson, N. J. Coming down the steep incline at Totowa, overlooking the river from a precipice over 40 feet high, the car left the track and made straight for the precipice. Fortunately the jolt of the car on leaving the rails threw the passengers into a heap in the front. The car, thus weighted down on the front trucks, came to a standstill on the brink of the cliff.

Finishing Touches on Lawson Yacht.

Boston, May 21.—The yacht Independence was under the hands of the Atlantic works men yesterday taking her finishing touches. The interior requires some work yet. The color of the hull will probably remain a dull gray instead of being painted white or black, as had been discussed. It is expected the yacht will be ready to sail in about two weeks. The Oregon pine boom will be placed as the steel mast is stopped.

Joint High Commission.

Ottawa, May 21.—The joint high commission representing this country and the United States is expected to resume its sittings during the present summer.

EXPOSITION IS OPENED.

Formal Dedication of Buffalo's Great Fair.

MESSAGE FROM THE PRESIDENT.

Mr. McKinley Telegraphs His Good Wishes—Colonel Roosevelt Delivers an Address—Parades, Concerts and Illumination.

Buffalo, May 21.—Under half bright, half lowering skies which failed, however, to dampen local enthusiasm the Pan-American exposition was formally dedicated with elaborate ceremonies.

Buffalo made holiday in honor of the event, and thousands poured out to the exposition grounds before noon. A military parade formed at the city hall, where officials of the exposition company received the foreign and state commissioners and distinguished visitors, who included Vice President Roosevelt, Senators Lodge and Hanna and Lieutenant Governor Woodruff.

The vice president reviewed the troops, regulars and local militia, who led the procession to the fair grounds through crowded streets. Mr. Roosevelt was cheered with vigor all along the line. After the military parade came that of the Midway concessionaires, a cosmopolitan array, with 20 musical organizations playing popular airs of as many peoples.

The first of the ceremonies on the grounds was the flight of 10,000 homing pigeons at the moment of opening the doors of the Temple of Music, where the public exercises were to be held.

In the auditorium Bishop C. H. Fowler offered the opening prayer, asking a blessing on "our vice president, who may become our president."

President McKinley's Message.

Mr. Milburn read telegrams of congratulation from a large number of rulers in North and South America, including the following from President McKinley:

"Fellow citizens of the United States and fellow Americans from all our neighbor nations, I send you greetings from the shores of the Pacific, with fervent prayers for the benediction of heaven upon this beneficent enterprise, with sincere congratulations to all those whose energy and devotion have brought it to pass and with heartfelt welcome to our guests from our sister republics, to whom we wish continued and abundant prosperity. May there be no cloud upon this grand festival of peace and commerce, no thought of rivalry except that generous competition in useful arts and industries which benefits all. I earnestly hope that this great exhibition may prove a blessing to every country of this hemisphere and even that the world at large may profit by the progress of which we give proof by the lesson of our efforts and their results. I trust that it may become evident before this exhibition closes that our vast and increasing prosperity is fruitful of nothing but good to our elders in the brotherhood of nations and that our onward march may forever exemplify the divine sentiment of 'peace on earth and good will to men.'"

Mayor Diehl of Buffalo briefly voiced the city's pride in the exposition and welcomed the visitors. Robert Cameron Rogers read a poem.

Mr. Roosevelt on Monroe Doctrine.

As Vice President Roosevelt came forward to speak he was greeted with great applause. He said: "To you of the republics south of us I wish to say a special word. I believe with all my heart in the Monroe doctrine. This doctrine is not to be invoked for the aggrandizement of any one of us here on this continent. It should be regarded simply as a great international pan-American policy, vital to the interests of all of us."

"The United States has and ought to have and must ever have only the desire to see her sister republics in the western hemisphere continue to flourish and the determination that no old world power shall acquire new territory here on this western continent."

"We of the two Americas must be left to work out our own salvation along our own lines, and if we are wise we will make it understood as a cardinal feature of our joint foreign policy that on the one hand we will not submit to territorial aggrandizement on this continent by any old world power and that on the other hand among ourselves each nation must scrupulously regard the rights and interests of the other."

Most of his speech was given to a discussion of America's duties in the world.

Senator Lodge followed the vice president with an address treating of the efforts of the United States to promote the solidarity of the republics of the western hemisphere and emphasizing the value to all of an isthmian canal.

Frederic Almy recited a poem and Lieutenant Governor Woodruff made the closing speech, sketching the growth of the new world and lauding Buffalo's international enterprise.

Colonel Alexander Sweet Dead.

New York, May 21.—Alexander Edwin Sweet, founder of Texas Siftings and a humorist of national reputation under the pen names of "Colonel Bill Sweet" and the "Rev. Whangdoodle," has died at his home in this city of heart disease, from which he had suffered for several years. He had several fainting fits during his illness, but arose apparently in perfect health and ate a hearty breakfast. He was seized about noon and died in half an hour.

Married a 11-year-old Girl.

Reading, Pa., May 21.—Jacob C. Hoch, aged 26 years, has been married to Ella Richer, aged 14 years, at Kutztown, Berks county. The bride is believed to be the youngest woman married in Pennsylvania in many years.

TO CANCEL DIVORCE.

Lady Anglesey Makes Application For Rescission of Decree.

London, May 21.—The Marchioness of Anglesey made a somewhat remarkable application to Sir Francis Jeune, president of the divorce division of the high court of justice, asking the court to rescind the divorce granted her Nov. 7 last.

The judge characterized the whole case as a most extraordinary one and decided to hear the application "in chambers" May 23.

Lillian Florence Maud, Marchioness of Anglesey, a daughter of Sir George Chetwynd, was married to the fifth Marquis of Anglesey in 1888. They were cousins, and it was said that by the marriage property was inherited which otherwise could not have been touched by either of them. Within a month after the marriage they separated on the Riviera, and it was asserted that the marquis agreed to give his wife $25,000 the first year, $30,000 the second year and so on until her allowance reached $50,000 a year. In any case the alleged allowance was stopped almost immediately.

The Pagets, of which family the Marquis of Anglesey is the head, are connected by marriage with several American families. The marquis is a cousin of Mr. Almeric Hugh Paget, son-in-law of William C. Whitney. He is 26 years old and succeeded to the title in 1898, on the death of his father, who married as his third wife Mary Livingston, daughter of Mr. J. P. King of Georgia, now the Dowager Marchioness of Anglesey.

"Skindivine" Managers Found Guilty.

New York, May 21.—In the trial of James P. Kellogg and Myron L. Bernard, on charges of using the mails for fraudulent purposes, counsel for Kellogg fiercely attacked the testimony of Sam Keller, who turned state's evidence, and said that Keller was the only witness produced by the government who had connected Kellogg with the E. S. Dean company. Counsel for Bernard addressed the jury in behalf of his client, saying that the defendant was simply an employee of the E. S. Dean company, that he was paid a regular salary and that he had not shared in any way the distribution of the proceeds of the concern. The jury rendered a verdict finding Kellogg and Bernard guilty. They were remanded for sentence.

Wife of Rear Admiral Howell Dead.

Philadelphia, May 21.—Mrs. Arabella E. Howell, wife of Rear Admiral J. A. Howell, president of the naval retiring board, who died at a private sanatorium here, will be buried at Warrenton, Va., the home of Admiral Howell. William Howell and Mrs. Bohn, son and daughter of Admiral Howell, are en route to this city, the former from Portland, Or., and the latter from Leadville, Colo. Upon their arrival Mrs. Howell's body will be taken to Warrenton. Admiral Howell, his daughter, Mrs. Wendell Neville, and Miss E. Wilford of Washington are now in this city.

Silver Brook Mine Flooded.

Hazleton, Pa., May 21.—A heretofore unknown body of water was tapped in the Silver Brook mine shortly before noon yesterday, and three men—Samuel Klingerman, foreman, and Fred O'Donnell and Alexander Gallagher, drivers—who ran toward the face of the breast when the rush occurred are believed to have been drowned or smothered. When the water was released by a shot fired by one of the 50 men engaged in the breast, it came down so suddenly that all had to run for their lives. All escaped except the three mentioned.

Indian Outbreak in Wyoming.

Lander, Wyo., May 21.—Word has been received from Fort Washakie that several hundred Arapahoe braves are defying Agent Nickerson of the Wind river reservation and that a serious outbreak is feared. Permission to use the troops has been asked. The failure of the government to furnish seed and the prohibition of the annual sun dance are the chief causes. The Indians under Black Colt have commenced killing stock, and the whites are growing angry. The Shoshones have so far proved peaceful.

Carnegie Library Offer Declined.

Cumberland, Md., May 21.—The city election resulted in the defeat of the proposition to accept an offer of Andrew Carnegie of $25,000 for a library building provided the city pledged $2,500 annually for its support. Workmen were almost solidly arrayed against the offer because of the increase of taxation it involved. Negroes, too, opposed it, alleging that on account of their color they would be deprived of its benefits. To encourage acceptance citizens had given a $3,500 site.

Life Sentence For Motorman.

New York, May 21.—Imprisonment in Sing Sing for life is the sentence passed upon John Quinn, who killed David Forsythe, by Reginald Goff in general sessions. Quinn was convicted last week of murder in the second degree. He was the motorman and Forsythe the conductor of a cross-town car. The murder occurred on March 8. Quinn testified that he shot Forsythe in self defense.

Turkish Postal Trouble Settled.

Constantinople, May 21.—Ahmed Tewfik Pasha, Ottoman minister of foreign affairs, having renewed his assurances of Turkey's intention to apologize to the embassies for the recent violations of the foreign mail bags, the British, French and Austro-Hungarian ambassadors have acknowledged them in an identical note, and the postal difficulty is now regarded as adjusted.

STRIKE OF MACHINISTS.

President O'Connell Summarizes the Situation.

ABOUT FIFTY THOUSAND ARE OUT.

Railroad Men Not in a Hail. Affected—Many Firms Have Yielded—The Trouble Will Probably Be of Short Duration.

Washington, May 21. Approximately 50,000 machinists throughout the country struck yesterday for a nine hour day, a scale of wages equal to the present ten hour per day scale and other demands. This is the rough estimate of President O'Connell of the National Association of Machinists, based on the telegraphic advices that have reached him from the machinists' headquarters in the various cities. The strike thus far has not extended to the allied trades save in one or two instances, as at Scranton, Pa., where men in a part of the allied trades are out. No machinists engaged in government work are affected. This is due to the fact that on such work an eight hour day scale already prevails.

Railroad machinists, as a rule, are not involved in the strike, though the men on several roads are out. The Central Vermont shop machinists at St. Albans, numbering probably 200, have struck. The Lehigh Valley railroad machinists at Buffalo, Sayre, Wilkesbarre and Elmira are out, aggregating about 500 all told. The Delaware, Lackawanna and Western men at Buffalo, Scranton, Wilkesbarre and intermediate points are out. The Gulf, Colorado and Santa Fe men are also out. The strike order, however, does not apply to the railroads generally.

It is explained at headquarters that there is no competition between the railroads and the private work and that work among the private establishments is to be adjusted first. The situation is summarized by President O'Connell in the following statement:

"We are demanding a nine hour day universally throughout the trade, with an increase of wages sufficient to overcome the loss of the hour in time; regulation of the apprenticeship system and the number that shall be employed in accordance with the number of journeymen machinists employed, agreements as to arbitration of all disputes that may arise in the future, the right of the machinists to be represented by a committee and agreements that there shall be absolutely no discrimination against machinists because of their membership in the union."

Order Being Generally Obeyed.

From the present indications and the statements issuing from headquarters at the various points the orders are being generally obeyed and in larger numbers than was anticipated. In certain cases where only a few hundred were expected to be involved the indications are that the number will be increased 50 per cent. The number of firms signing indicates that in localities where the agreements are being made the strike will not last over a few days. In other localities where a larger number of men are being involved I look forward to an adjustment being reached within the present week."

Word from other large cities is tardy in reaching here. Telegraphic reports to Mr. O'Connell show the following as the number of firms which have signed the agreements: Kosonka, Wis., all; Milwaukee, 5; Wilmington, Del., 2; Toledo, 1; Auburn, N. Y., all; Anacosta, Mon., all; Denver, all; St. Louis, all; New Orleans, all; Danbury, Conn., all; Pittsburgh, 90 per cent; Franklin, Pa., all; Youngstown, O., all; Cleveland, 15; Rochester, 90 per cent; Buffalo, 50 per cent; Niagara Falls, all; Tonawanda, all; Trenton, 75 per cent; Baltimore, 11; Philadelphia, 25; New Haven, S. These establishments having conceded the demands, their men are at work as usual.

Morgan to See Loubet.

London, May 21.—The Paris correspondent of The Daily Mail says that President Loubet will receive Mr. J. Pierpont Morgan on Tuesday. General Horace Porter, the American ambassador, requested the interview, ostensibly to afford Mr. Morgan an opportunity to thank Mr. Loubet for the decoration of the Legion of Honor that was recently conferred on him. It is whispered, however, that the interview will be the first step in the promotion of a great financial enterprise in which American capitalists will figure.

Killed Her Two Children.

St. Louis, Mich., May 21.—Mrs. Elmer Quimby, wife of a farmer living five miles south of this city, gave her two children, a boy aged 7 and a girl aged 9, large doses of morphine, and both children are dead. Mrs. Quimby then took 18 grains of the drug herself, but the dose was so heavy it acted as an emetic, and she will recover. Family trouble is said to have induced the woman to commit the crime. She is under arrest on the charge of murder.

Extra Session in Honolulu.

Honolulu, May 13, via San Francisco, May 21.—The extra session of the legislature called by Governor Dole for the consideration of appropriation bills is now in session, and the committee work done so far shows the expected general cutting of salaries of government officials. A large number of clerks and other minor officials probably will be left unprovided for altogether, and the heads of all departments are cut.

Rather Cleveland Has Diphtheria.

Princeton, N. J., May 21.—Ruth Cleveland, the daughter of the former president, is suffering from diphtheria. The physician in attendance says the child is not in a critical condition, and he expects no serious development in the case.

THE BILLIARD TABLE

ORIGINALLY IT WAS A SOMEWHAT QUEER ARRANGEMENT.

It Was Square in Shape and Had Three Pockets, All on One Side—The Primitive Game Was Played With Two Balls, Both White.

Two hundred years in the dark ages when even the best appointed of country houses had to do without its billiard table. In those remote times our nobility and gentry, had to employ their all too numerous leisure hours in the domestic pastime of shoveling or shuffling—board—to give it its more correct designation. This was a table of varying length, the longer the better, generally about three feet or a trifle more in width, and the game consisted in "bunting" flat disks of metal along it, with the object of leaving them as near the further edge as possible. If the luck or skill of the performer left his disk overhanging the edge, he scored three, if between the edge and a line three or four inches of it two, and he marked one for a shuffle that left him between that line and one considerably closer to him.

The game does not sound wildly exciting, but it was popular enough, and great care was expended in the construction of the tables. "It is remarkable," says one Dr. Plot, quoted in Strutt, "that in the hall at Chardley the shuffleboard table, though ten yards one foot and an inch long, is an up of about 280 pieces, which are generally about 18 inches long, some few only excepted, that are scarce a foot, which, being laid on longer boards for support underneath, are so accurately joined and glued together that no shuffleboard whatever is freer from rums or casting."

Pretty Program, a Fine Dinner and An Instructive Address.

The finest of May weather favored the meeting of the East Rockingham Pomona grange at Philbrick hall on Congress street today. Nearly two hundred visitors were present from all over the county and the session was pronounced one of the most interesting and profitable ever held.

At the close of the business meeting, the grangers found an elaborate dinner awaiting them in the main banquet hall, which elegant spread was served under the direction of the ladies of Strawberry Bank grange of Portsmouth. The dinner included the largest variety of the good things for the table.

The hall was cleared off the tables after the meal and the seats arranged for the public session, which was opened at two o'clock, when Prof. Morse of Durham college delivered a fine address from the subject, "What is Being Done at the New Hampshire College."

Following the address were debates on the following questions, "Resolved, That the Success of the Grange Depends more upon the Officers than the Members," and "Resolved, That the Social Features of the Grange Are More Beneficial than the Educational," which is included in the following excellent program of readings, vocal and instrumental music, all of which were received with much pleasure.

THE BOSTONIANS TONIGHT

A Warm Welcome From Portsmouth Admirers Awaits Barnabee and His Company.

Opera worthily presented is the keynote to the success of The Bostonians who appear here at Music hall this (Wednesday) evening, presenting that delightful comic opera The Serenade, by Victor Herbert. That The Bostonians will have a warm welcome goes without saying, for their reputation has long since been established and they are absolutely without peer in the lyric field. The production of The Serenade is promised to be made on lavish lines, with all the complete scenic accessories which marked its New York presentation, with a cast including all the well known favorites of this company, a chorus of fifty fresh young voices and an orchestra of trained musicians under the baton of S. L. Stendley.

Among the newcomers who will be heard in this opera is the famous basso, John Dunsmore, who is generally credited with being the greatest singer of bass roles on the comic opera stage.

Estelle Wentworth, the prima donna soprano, will also be heard as "Yvonne," while Messrs. Barnabee and MacDonald and Josephine Bartlett, Albert Parr, Mabel Pierson, Adele Rafter and other artists will also appear to advantage.

The most popular and best known comedian on the comic opera stage is the veteran singer Henry Clay Barnabee, a native of our own city, who will appear here with The Bostonians. So well known is Mr. Barnabee to the American public that he has long since been dubbed "the dean of comic opera comedians." Like his confreres, Joseph J. Benson, he uses the same class methods and his impersonations are always rendered with intelligent taste, without horse play or buffoonery. Mr. Barnabee has been before the public over 35 years, and music lovers wish with each other to do him honor whenever he appears in a new role. Among the impersonations which cover quite a range, The Duke of Santa Cruz in The Serenade and the Sheriff of Nottingham in Robin Hood are probably the best known and liked. Mr. Barnabee has but recently celebrated his 67th year.

SPORTING NOTES.

Manchester lost its first New England league game to Lewiston on Monday.

The Marines would like to measure strength with the Christian Shore base ball team.

Chicago now brings up the rear in the National league race, and Cleveland holds last position in the American league standing.

The base ball team of the Maplewood Athletic club has strong hopes of winning its game with Epping in this city next Saturday.

Major Taylor and Jacquelin are to meet again in the near future, and Taylor hopes to prove his right to the title of champion of the cycling world.

Nashua papers are criticizing the managers of the New England league team of that city very sharply. The managers are warned that unless their penny wise, pound foolish policy is abandoned, baseball in the second city will receive a bad black eye.

The more one thinks about it, the more un-sportsmanlike and un-American seems the action of the New York club, in regard to the sailing of the Law son yacht Independence in the time races to pick the America's cup defender. If the deed of gift, which placed the cup in charge of the New York club, is so worded that representatives of any registered yacht club cannot compete for the honor of defending it, it is about time that measures were taken to change the provisions of the deed.

BLOOD

We live by our blood, and on it. We thrive or starve, as our blood is rich or poor.

There is nothing else to live on or by.

When strength is full and spirits high, we are being refreshed, bone muscle and brain, in body and mind, with continual flow of rich blood.

This is health.

When weak, in low spirits, no cheer, no spring, when rest is not rest and sleep is not sleep, we are starved; our blood is poor; there is little nutriment in it.

Back of the blood, is food, to keep the blood rich. When it fails, take Scott's emulsion of cod-liver oil. It sets the whole body going again—man woman and child.

We'll send you a little try, if you like. SCOTT'S BLOOD, 455 Pearl street, New York.
